HOT LOCAL CONTESTS

Spirited Fights For Nomination For Council and School Directors in Bellefonte —First Round Ends Saturday, September 30.

To comply with the spirit of the law, the office of the County Commissioners was kept open until midnight last Saturday to receive and file petitions from candidates desiring to have their names printed on the ballots, which will be used at the uniform primaries in Centre County on Saturday, September 30. The law does not fix any definite hour for closing on the last day for filing petitions. In Philadelphia and many other counties the County Commissioners decided to keep their office open until midnight. County Commissioners Woodring, Zimmerman and Dunlap decided to follow this course in Centre County, their idea being to respect the spirit of the law and also give to everybody an equal and fair show for the filing of petitions.

A few straggling petitions were filed at the eleventh hour, but as a rule these were for minor offices. The filing of petitions for candidates for County offices revealed no surprises. "The Republican" last week published a complete list of the petitions filed for County offices and to that list the only names to be added are those of Edward C. McGinley, of Milesburg, Democratic, for Recorder, and D. A. Grove, of College township, and Burdine Butler, of Howard, both Democratic and both seeking nomination for County Commissioners. The last-hour petitions included those of Dr. S. P. Fisher, of Zion, Republican and Democratic, and Dr. S. M. Huff, of Milesburg, Republican, for Coroner, and for David Pletcher, of Howard, Republican, and J. Henry Wetzel, of Bellefonte, Democratic, for County Surveyor. Otherwise the list as published in "The Republican" is complete.

When it had become generally understood that the final stages of the period for filing petitions would not witness the entry of new candidates, interest centered chiefly in the entering of candidates for borough and township offices. There was no little curiosity to learn who had been entered as candidates for School Directors and Council in Bellefonte Borough. The filing of petitions in the closing hours indicates several spirited contests for nomination for both School Directors and Council. One of these will be in the North ward, Bellefonte, where determined opposition has developed to the candidacy of J. C. Harper for renomination for Council on the Democratic ticket. Mr. Harper is president of Council and has filed his petition for renomination. A movement on the part of citizens to bring into the field as candidates men who are property owners gained considerable momentum on Friday and Saturday. This resulted in the filing of petitions for John S. Walker, for Republican nomination, and for Oliver Whitmer, for both Republican and Democratic nominations in the North Ward. In the South ward petitions were filed for both Republican and Democratic nominations for Dr. Joseph M. Brockerhoff. G. Fred Musser, present Democratic member of Council from the South ward, did not file a petition for renomination. In the West ward a petition was filed for Republican nomination for Council for G. Edward Haupt, and also petitions for Council on both Republican and Democratic tickets for Jesse Theodore Cherry.

For School Director D. F. Fortney, Democratic, and Dr. M. J. Locke, Republican, are the only aspirants for nomination for the six-years term and a battle royal is indicated. Four candidates, three Republicans and one Democrat, are in the field for the two four-years terms. They are Henry Lowry, Charles F. Cook and Milton R. Johnson, Republican, and A. C. Mingle, Democrat. Three are members of the present board. For the two two-years terms there are five candidates in the field. Petitions have been filed for Mrs. Roger S. Brouse and Mrs. Charles E. Gilmour for nomination on both Republican and Democratic tickets. Dr. A. W. Hafer is also a candidate for nomination on both tickets. L. H. Gettig and J. Harry Eberhart have filed petitions for the Democratic nomination for the two-years term. The complete list of petitions filed for nomination in Bellefonte follows:

OPENING OF SCHOOLS

Public Schools and Academy Have Increased Attendance.

The Bellefonte public schools and the Bellefonte Academy, which last week opened for the winter, each show an increased enrollment. The enrollment in the public schools follows:

Grade 1—65 pupils.
Grade 2—95 pupils.
Grade 3—84 pupils.
Grade 4—74 pupils.
Grade 5—65 pupils.
Grade 6—52 pupils.
Grade 7—41 pupils.
Grade 8—70 pupils.
High School—201 pupils.
Total enrollment—747.

At the Bellefonte Academy there are upward of 80 students, a large number being from distant points. Headmaster J. R. Hughes reports the attendance to be in every way satisfactory.

Professor Jonas E. Wagner, supervising principal of the public schools, reports that all grades, with the exception of the First, show a normal or increased enrollment. The First is slightly lower than usual, but pupils are being added with each day and the enrollment in this grade will no doubt soon reach the average number.

The High School shows a marked increase and is now one of the largest High Schools in the State, for the population of the town. About twenty applicants from other districts for entrance to the High School were refused admission owing to poor preparation. A delegation of 15 students have entered from the upper Bald Eagle valley.

The High School faculty this year is regarded as the strongest in the history of the school. All are college trained.

It is expected that this year will also show a big advance in athletics. Mr. Hinman, the athletic coach, has 25 or 30 boys in training for football.

At its meeting on Monday evening the School Board took an advanced step when it raised the salaries of all grade and primary teachers who have been in the service of the board five years or more. This places the salaries of grammar grade teachers at $60 per month, and all others at $55 per month.

Modern drinking fountains have been installed at the Brick Building, on East Bishop Street, thus giving sanitary drinking features in both buildings. A new flag pole has been placed at the New Building and a new flag will be raised with appropriate exercises in the near future

Judging by the appearance of some of the new students at the Bellefonte Academy the football eleven there this year will be big and strong enough to battle with some of the heaviest teams in the State. Several strapping, big fellows have been enrolled as students and with next week will be in training for the team. Thus far no attempt has been made to sift out a first eleven. In keeping with the policy of other years, Headmaster Hughes will have every available man given a thorough trying out and the best will be chosen for the first eleven.

DR, HAWES ACCEPTS

New Presbyterian Minister Will Take Charge Here in October.

Rev. Dr. George Hawes on Monday notified the congregation of the Bellefonte Presbyterian church that he had accepted the call extended him several weeks ago. The acceptance was made known in a letter to William B. Rankin, secretary of the session.

On the occasion of his recent visit here Dr. Hawes informed Mr. Rankin that in the event of his acceptance of the call he would come to Bellefonte about the middle of October. In his formal acceptance he made no reference to the probable time of his arrival and consequently he is looked for during the second or third week of next month.

Spent Night in Auto.

Two gentlemen and their wives, from New York, were at the Bush House one evening last week and while there they told of an experience in their automobile the previous night which they had no desire to repeat. The heavy rains had so thoroughly soaked the clay roads, near Martha Furnace, they said, that the automobile in which they were traveling sunk to the hubs in the mud. After numerous and futile efforts to pull the machine out of the mud, the occupants put up the side curtains and settled down to sleep as best they could. They spent the night in the car and it was not until about 9 o'clock the next morning that they were pulled out of the mud by a two-horse team and started on their way toward Bellefonte.

PUBLIC MEETING URGES LOCATING PRISON HERE

Bellefonte Business Men are Friendly Toward Project.

TWO SITES PROPOSED

Committee Inspects Ground at McBride's Gap and Measures Water Capacity—Centre Hall Advocates Selection of Potters Mills.

A public meeting was held in the Court House on Monday evening to advocate the building of the proposed new penitentiary and farm prison in Centre County. If it is possible to find an acceptable site it is desired having the institution located nearby Bellefonte. If Bellefonte is not to have the new prison the hope of our business men and others is that it will be located within the boundaries of the county.

Primarily Monday night's meeting was called to ascertain the sentiment of the citizens on the question of locating the new prison within a reasonable radius of Bellefonte. A motion setting forth that the sentiment of the community is entirely friendly toward the project was adopted by a unanimous vote.

J. Linn Harris was made chairman of the meeting. He briefly explained some of the requirements of the site that will eventually be selected. He declared that in all probability the prison will be built in Centre County and that at present the selection of a site has narrowed down to what is known as McBride's gap, at Peru, and a section of land near Potters Mills, with preference possibly favoring the latter. In the event the prison is not located in Centre County, so Mr. Harris stated, Huntingdon County seems to stand the best chance for securing it.

The meeting authorized the appointment of a committee to visit the McBride gap site, ascertain what the necessary land could be purchased for and also calculate the water capacity it affords. H. C. Quigley, W. Fred Reynolds and C. Y. Wagner were named on this committee. They visited the site on Tuesday. Mr. Quigley subsequently said that the owners of the land were willing to sell at a reasonable figure and that a measurement of the water capacity showed it to be about 2,000,000 gallons daily. Both the McBride's gap and the Potters Mills sites are said to contain sufficient stone to meet all requirements.

The information secured by the committee will be placed before Warden John Francies, of the western penitentiary, on the occasion of his next visit to Bellefonte, which may be today or tomorrow. On his previous visits here Mr. Francies pointed out that the site selected would have to contain all necessary stone for building purposes and also a daily water capacity of 3,000,000 gallons. He explained in a general way that 1,000,000 gallons of water are used daily in the western penicentiary at the present time and that in planning for the proposed new prison it was desired to have a water capacity that would cover not only the needs of the near future but also the requirements of thirty or fifty years hence.

Efforts were made to have the committee requested to investigate the Hecla gap site and other proposed sites in order that there would be still someting tangible to offer Mr. Francies in the event the McBride's gap site failed to win his approval. Mr. Quigley said that the committee was perfectly willing to investigate the Hecla gap site, but that he was satisfied it lacked the necessary water capacity.

Those attending the meeting were chiefly business men, the largest turnout of the kind held in Bellefonte in the last three years. Virtually all present seemed to be of one mind on the project and the hope was expressed that the institution would be located in the immediate vicinity of Bellefonte.

Likes "The Republican."

In a letter, in which he enclosed a check covering his subscription to "The Republican" for not only the present year but also for next year, W. H. Pletcher, of Eagles Mere, writes:

"We like the paper very much."

We assure Mr. Pletcher that his kindly words are fully appreciated.

Capt. Williams Takes Charge.

Captain Samuel H. Williams last Thursday received from President Taft his commission as postmaster in Bellefonte. The formal transfer of the office was completed on Monday morning, Mr. Harter retiring and Mr. Williams assuming charge of the affairs of the office.

EVERYBODY HAPPY AT BIG GRANGERS PICNIC

As Usual, The Event Turns Out to be The Greatest Ever.

CANDIDATES MAKE HAY

The Entire Brigade Flock to Picnic Ground and Button-hole Voters—Pleasing Array of Exhibits and all Tents are Filled.

GRANGE PARK, CENTRE HALL, WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 13, 1911
(Special Correspondence.)

The old phrase that the grangers picnic is the greatest ever is a sort of a worn-out chestnut, but it is about the only thing that fits into any accurate description of this year's big event near Centre Hall. Especially is this true of the attendance on Tuesday, the crowd smashing all records for that day in the week. The weather is ideal, not too warm and not too cold. The grounds are in apple pie order. The exhibits are all that one could wish for. Every tent is occupied and tenting space, to paraphrase a theatre expression, means standing room only. Last, but not least, presiding at headquarters is Leonard Rhone, without whose presence a grangers picnic wouldn't be a grangers picnic at all. He is on the job, as usual, and handling it to perfection. Unless he is woefully mistaken, he expects to be able to write down the fact that this year's picnic and exhibition proved to be the most delightful ever held since the days when the annual event was celebrated on top of the mountains.

Tuesday's crowd was large, but that today was larger, and tomorrow it is expected that the fences will have to be removed to accommodate the crowd. Thursday is always the "big day", and all indications are that tomorrow will again prove to be the topnotcher in the matter of attendance and enthusiasm.

A conservative statement would be that every candidate for office in Centre County is or has been on the picnic grounds, shaking hands, wearing his best smile and passing out promises and campaign cards. It matters not that one happens to live in another county or another State, for that matter, he is pounced upon a dozen times a day and by a dozen different candidates and asked to give his "influence and support" at the primaries. Truly the farmers may make hay while the sun shines, but this week the candidates are making hay among the farmers. However, it all goes in with the grangers picnic. The picnic needs the candidates and the candidates need the picnic. Blended together the two make up a combination hard to beat.

Saturday gave the picnic its start-off. Sunday was made a day of joy and happiness, the turkey dinner at the Decker boarding tent being worth more than the price of admission. Monday was given over to the placing of exhibits, a moving picture entertainment in the evening sending everybody to their tents in a happy frame of mind. Tuesday morning was rather frosty, but this was forgotten in the big drop in temperature this morning. The early mornings and evenings are so chilly, in fact, that overcoats are popular and quite a few are seen on the grounds.

The chief event on Tuesday was the annual picnic and reunion of the Centre County Veteran Club. The speakers were Dr. E. E. Sparks, president of State College, and Dr. Thomas C. VanTries, of Bellefonte. Their remarks were listened to with close attention and were well received. The several officers were re-elected for the coming year, as follows: General James A. Beaver, president; W. H. Fry, of Pine Grove Mills, and Capt. Austin Curtin, vice presidents; W. H. Musser, of Bellefonte, secretary, and Captain George Boal, of Centre Hall, treasurer.

Hon. E. B. Dorsett, lecturer of the State Grange, was scheduled to speak today, but he missed a train connection and will not arrive until tomorrow morning, at which time he and also William T. Creasy, master of the State Grange, will speak. Secretary of Agriculture N. B. Critchfield and Dairy and Food Commissioner Foust are also scheduled for tomorrow. Forestry Commissioner Robert Conklin is already here and devoting his time to circulating among the grangers.

Death at Philipsburg.

After an extended illness, Mrs. Leander, wife of Justice of the Peace B. J. LaPorte, died at her home in Philipsburg on Sunday, last. She was aged 72 years, 7 months and 17 days.

STORM'S AWFUL HAVOC

Two Lives Lost as Result of Cloudburst at Tyrone.

Tyrone was visited by a cloudburst on Friday evening of last week, resulting in the loss of two lives and the destruction of hundreds of dollars worth of property. The Seeds building, a two-story frame structure over the Bald Eagle creek, at Tenth Street, was washed away. The building was occupied by a number of persons. Mrs. Rebecca J. Hinkle, who had apartments in the building, was warned away but returned to her rooms just as the structure toppled over with a crash and was swept down the creek. Her lifeless body was found early Sunday afternoon, lodged against some driftwood in the Juniata river, nearly opposite the Birmingham seminary grounds. The second life lost was that of John Scruders, a farmer near WarriorsMark. The storm swept over that section with terrific force. Mr. Scruders ran to his barn to look after his stock. The flood washed his barn away and he was caught in the raging waters and drowned. His body was found on Saturday at Huntingdon Furnace.

The buildings and pools of the Spruce Creek fish hatchery were washed away, the loss being complete. The Shuey marble and granite works, located at Tenth Street, in Tyrone, was badly wrecked, large marble slabs being carried several miles by the flood. Many other properties were damaged and the total loss will run into thousands of dollars.

The storm destroyed a number of railroad bridges. The Pennsylvania lines had several bad wash-outs and all trains between Tyrone and Scotia were cancelled for the day.

Sections of the Bald Eagle valley, between Tyrone and Eagleville, suffered heavily from the high water. Roads and fields were badly washed at a number of points.

REV. MR. BARRY RESIGNS

Pastor of Bellefonte Lutheran Church Goes to Centre Hall.

A surprise to the congregation of the Bellefonte Lutheran church, on Sunday, last, and incidentally one that was received with deep regret, was the announced resignation of the pastor. Rev. Fred W. Barry. Mr. Barry severs his connection with the Bellefonte church to accept a call to the Centre Hall charge. The resignation takes effect October 1. The Centre Hall charge embraces the following churches: Centre Hall, Tusseyville, George's Valley and Union.

In his new field of labor Mr. Barry will receive a salary of $900 and parsonage rent free. In Bellefonte his salary has been $750 a year, not including rent for parsonage. This is the third call recently received by Mr. Barry. One was from Salona and another from a town in Ohio.

Mr. Barry on May 1, last, commenced what was his fifth year as pastor of the Bellefonte Lutheran church. During his pastorate here he was rewarded with considerable success. He had the satisfaction of seeing a debt on the church, amounting to $2,000, wiped out, and also repairs costing upward of $1,000 paid for. He goes to his new field of endeavor with the good will and best wishes of a large circle of warm and admiring friends.

Boy Lost Two Hours.

Three-years-old Charles Morgan, one of five children of Mrs. Morgan, of Orviston, was lost for two hours in Beech Creek on Tuesday evening of last week, his sudden disappearance causing no little axiety among relatives and friends. The boy was visiting his sister, Mrs. George H. Stevenson, in Beech Creek, and innocently wandered off. For a time it was feared that he had fallen into the creek, nearby the Stevenson home, and been drowned. After quite a search the little fellow was found between the tracks of the New York Central, nearby the brick works. The child was bewildered and unable to find his way out of the railroad yards. David Sweeley, Jr., happened along that way during the evening and finding the child picked him up and carried him home. There was great rejoicing in the Stevenson home when the child was restored to his mother.

DR. GEORGE F. HARRIS SUMMONED BY DEATH

Prominent Physician and Citizen Passed Away Suddenly.

ILL SEVERAL MONTHS

Heart Failure Immediate Cause of His Death, Which Occurred at 1.30 o'clock Sunday Morning—Interment on Tuesday Afternoon.

Death, at 1.30 o'clock on Sunday morning, last, brought to a close the life and career of Dr. George F. Harris, of Bellefonte, well known as a physician and citizen. As a climax to an illness which had slowly been undermining his strength, his heart suddenly failed and he expired in a chair in his apartments in the Bush House.

Dr. Harris had been ill on several recent occasions. Some time ago he was confined to his bed for five or six weeks. From this he rallied and apparently regained his strength. More recently he went to Atlantic City, but the trip did not result in the benefit hoped for. On Monday of last week he was about as usual, appearing in the Bush House lobby and chatting with a few friends. For several days later his condition was regarded as critical. Then followed a slight change for the better and he rested the more comfortably. About 1.30 o'clock Sunday morning he experienced severe pain in the region of the heart and Dr. David Dale was summoned. When the latter entered the sick-room he was greeted by Dr. Harris, who explained that he was experiencing pain. Dr. Harris suggested that the nurse give him an hypodermic injection and the latter was about preparing to do so when the well known physician calmly remarked:

"Never mind."

A few seconds later he was dead. His heart had suddenly stopped. That he must have realized that the end was at hand was evidenced by the brief command to the nurse not to bother with preparing the hypodermic injection. Undertaker Hardman P. Harris was summoned and after the body had been prepared for burial it was removed to the home of one of the two surviving daughters, Mrs. John M. Shugert, on East Linn Street.

Few men in Centre County were better known than was Dr. Harris. His father was the late William Harris. Dr. Harris was a son of his father's second wife, who was Miss Mary Fairlamb, of West Chester, a sister of the late George A. Fairlamb, of Bellefonte. Dr. Harris was married to Miss Mary W. Curtin, eldest daughter of the late Governor A. G. Curtin. The widow and two daughters, Mrs. John M. Shugert, of Bellefonte, and Mrs. J. M. Curtin, of Pittsburg, survive.

Filled as are the histories of Centre County with eulogies of men prominent in social, professional and business life, their pages contain but a one-sentence reference to Dr. Harris—a mere record of the names of his parents, his wife and daughters. This brief mention of him was characteristic of his distaste for display of any kind. He was not only widely known but was universally liked and admired and the announcement of his death was received with genuine regret by a host of friends.

Dr. Harris was born in Bellefonte, March 17, 1843. He was educated at the Bellefonte Academy and the University of Pennsylvania, graduating from the latter institution in 1862. He practiced medicine in Bellefonte for over 40 years. He was a member of the Centre County Medical Society, the West Branch Medical Society and was junior warden of St. John's Protestant Episcopal church, of Bellefonte. Dr. Harris served for a time in the Civil war. He was commissioned assistant surgeon of the Seventh Pennsylvania Cavalry, Army of the Cumberland, and was mustered into the service of the United States on March 20, 1864. He served in the army hospitals at Philadelphia and Harrisburg and was discharged October 21 1864, on account of illness. Dr. Harris was a member of Gregg Post, No. 95, G. A. R., and was its first commander.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, from the Protestant Episcopal church, of which the deceased was a member. Rev. John Hewitt officiated. The church was thronged with old-time friends and associates of the deceased while numerous and handsome floral pieces testified to the esteem in which he was held. The honorary pall-bearers were representative business and professional men in Bellefonte. The casket carriers were physicians from Bellefonte and other parts of Centre County. Following the church service, interment was made in the Union cemetery.

BEATTIE FOUND GUILTY

Twelve Virginia farmers knelt at dusk on Friday night, last, in the obscurity of the small jury room of Chesterfield Court House, Virginia, praying fervently that they might pass judgment aright on Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., indicted for the murder of his wife. Greatly determined they arose a moment later and silently one by one recorded a unanimous verdict of "guilty."

Pausing in solemn contemplation for fifty-eight minutes weighing carefully the meaning of their decision and once more on bended knees beseeching Divine assistance that they might not err, they filed into the hushed stillness of a crowded court room and with startling suddenness twelve voices, instead of the usual one of the foremen, spoke the single word "guilty." It was almost a shout. The spectre of death which stalked Midlothian turnpike on July 18 last when the life of Mrs. Louise Owen Beattie was taken with the single report of a shotgun stared hard at the young husband ready to claim its victim by electrocution on Friday, November 24 next. But the prisoner returned the gaze, unswerving and unafraid.

The Court of Appeals, to be sure, will be asked to grant a writ of error and a new trial. Young Beattie, cognizant of the legal weapons yet at his disposal, did not surrender. Instead, he consoled his broken down father, white-haired and wrinkled, and comforted him as he whispered "I haven't lost yet, father."

Unusual as has been the tragedy and the gruesome stage where it occurred, the twelve jurymen did not hesitate to admit to their friends that they stood in judgment not only over the cold-blooded murder, but upon his marital infidelity as well. It perhaps was the dramatic climax of Virginia justice which in the last half century has swiftly sent to death such famous murderers as Cluverius, Philips and McCue.

USEFUL AND ORNAMENTAL

Railroads Find it Economical to Beautify Roadbeds.

By beautifying its road bed and station grounds, the Pennsylvania Railroad is effecting material economies and at the same time securing what the experts' latest dictum declares to be an ideal road bed.

Grassy banks, sloping smoothly down to the tracks strike the passenger's eye on the lines of the Pennsylvania. Nine out of ten people think these sodded slopes are put there solely to please the eye and make the Pennsylvania a good road to look at, as well as to ride upon. This is a mistake—the grass is more useful than ornamental and eventually it will mean the saving of thousands of dollars now spent on "maintenance of way." "Water," said a prominent railroad official in a recent lecture, "is the greatest enemy of the road bed." Water flowing down unsodded slopes cause erosion, washing dirt and stones into the ditches besides the track and choking the drainage.

It was in the summer of 1905 that the Pennsylvania adopted the present improvement in order to reduce the cost of maintenance, as well as to make travel on the Pennsylvania Railroad safer, more comfortable and altogether more agreeable. A committee of engineers prepared plans for what is now termed "standard road bed," which requires a ditch of 10 1-2 feet wide on each side of a four track road and the bottom of the ditch must be 3 1-2 feet below the level of the top of the ties. That means that there must be a decided slope from the lowest part of the road bed from the ditch.

In addition to the sodding of embank ments, the Pennsylvania is planting shrubbery and ornamental trees in open places along its right of way. Thousands of plants are grown every year at the Company's nurseries at Morrisville for beautifying station grounds. This work is gradually being extended as plants become available. Work on the Main Line will be prosecuted until all of the station grounds have been improved. After that it will be extended to branch roads.

Liquid Cures Eczema Where Salves Fail.

In regard to skin diseases, medical authorities are now agreed on this:

Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. A true cure of all eczematous diseases can be brought about only by using the healing agents in the form of a liquid.

WASH THE GERMES OUT.

A simple wash: A compound of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, and other ingredients as combined in the D. D. D. Prescription. This penetrates to the disease germs and destroys them, then soothes and heals the skin as nothing else has ever done.

Do We Sleep Too Much?

Perhaps, on account of popular opinion and personal habit, we waste much time in a jellyfish condition that could be more profitably spent in active pursuit of our ambitions. The answer, of course, depends upon the nature of our occupation. If there is much muscular effort involved, with a corresponding large amount of waste in the cells and blood, eight hours or more are probably necessary. But if our work is of a sedentary nature and mainly of the brain there is naturally a smaller quantity of accumulated waste, and less time is required for its removal. Many are the instances of great men, past and present, who have lived healthfully and worked unceasingly and strenuously on only four or five hours of sleep, or half the laborer's portion. Surely we are not to suppose that those men were or are physically different from others, but rather that by inclination or necessity they have developed a habit of sleeping intensely for a short period instead of lightly for a longer period, with resulting gain of time and efficiency.—Atlantic Monthly.

Kings Are Useful.

A king is a hand embroidered gentleman trimmed with metals, faced with whiskers and thatched with a metal roof that would never keep off the rain. Nominally he is the head of the nation; actually he is a figurehead, and that is figuratively speaking only, for he is generally too fat to claim a figure and seldom has much of a head—except on the morning after a celebration.

Once upon a time the king was the big tuba of the band. Now he is merely an oboe—until there is a revolution, and then he becomes a real live hobo.

However, a king has his place, although he is yearly finding it more difficult to stay in it.

Kings are found to be very useful in poker games, and by society ladies who wish to be presented to somebody they can brag of having met when they get back home to their long left loved ones.—Detroit Free Press.

Light and Sound Waves.

With reference to our ability to tell the direction from which sound proceeds, attention may be called to an interesting difference between the eyes and the ears in relation to the size of the waves that strike them. The average wave length of light is about one ten-thousandth of the diameter of the pupil of the eye. On the other hand, according to Rayleigh, the waves of sound proceeding from a man's mouth are about eight feet long, whereas the diameter of the passage of the ear is quite small and could not well have been made a large multiple of eight feet. One consequence of the minuteness of light waves in comparison with the size of the eyes is that the lenses of the eyes are able to concentrate rays of light upon the retina with great efficiency.—Scientific American.

According to Orders.

In employing men to work at his Palo Alto farm in California the late Senator Stanford gave strict orders that they were never to strike, kick or whip a horse. On one occasion, while at dinner, one of the drivers insisted that he must see the senator. He was ushered in, with blood over his face, which was badly cut. "John knocked me down," explained the man, referring to one of the trainers. "What did you do?" asked the senator. "Nothing," replied the man. "But you must have done something. I want the truth," persisted the senator. "Well, I only kicked a horse," growled the man, "and John knocked me down." "Those were John's instructions," said the senator emphatically, "and he did just right."

Gallant.

Mme. Sarah Bernhardt once told of a gallant to whom she had been introduced. "His compliments," she said, "were so glowing that at last I cried out:

"'But, monsieur, remember, I am sixty-four years old!'

"'Madam,' he replied, 'to me you are just thirty-two, for I, seared as I have been by scandal, am too charitable ever to believe more than half of what I hear.'"

Some Squeeze.

A judge was questioning an old Irishman.

"He took you by the throat and choked you, did he?" asked the judge.

"He did, sor," said Pat. "Sure, sor, he squazed me throat till I thought he would make cider out o' me Adam's apple."—London Telegraph.

Experience Teaches.

A Real Gas Plant.

There are two varieties of gas plant. One is a manufacturing establishment where coal is converted into gas for illuminating and heating purposes. The other variety is a real growing plant called the fraxinella. Few know why the fraxinella is called the "gas plant." This is because at certain times it releases a volatile oil that actually ignites if allowed to come in contact with a lighted match. The fraxinella is also noted for its fragrance and longevity if not disturbed. One plant in a New England garden is doing its best to outlive a third generation, and elsewhere a clump is still flourishing after no less than thirty-seven years on a grave—one of the most difficult of places for a perennial to keep up a long struggle for existence, let alone a normal life.—New York World.

Gifted.

"I don't know what I'm ever going to make of that son of mine," complained a prominent Cleveland business man the other day. The old chap is self made, a graduate of the university of hard knocks and all that, and it naturally grieves him to have a son who is not aggressive.

"Maybe your son hasn't found himself yet," we consoled. "Isn't he gifted in any way?"

"Gifted! I should say he is! He ain't got a darned thing that wasn't given to him." Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Big William Penn.

The statue of William Penn at the city hall in Philadelphia weighs thirty tons and is thirty-seven feet high. Some other dimensions are: Hat rim, twenty-three feet in circumference; nose, thirteen inches long; eyes, twelve inches long and four inches wide; hair, four feet long; arms, twelve feet six inches long; waist, twenty-four feet in circumference; legs, from ankle to knee, ten feet; calf, eight feet eight inches in circumference.

Beats a Good Wife.

An orator holding forth in favor of woman—dear, divine woman—concluded thus:

"Oh, my friends, depend upon it, nothing beats a good wife."

"I beg your pardon," replied a woman. "Sure, a bad husband always does."—London Telegraph.

Early Rising.

The difference between rising in the morning at 5 and 7 o'clock in the space of forty years—supposing a man to go to bed at the same hour at night—is nearly equivalent to the addition of ten years to a life of three-score years and ten.

Where is the man who has the power and skill to stem the torrent of a woman's will?—Old English Proverb.

The Crops.

Reports to Braudstreet's indicate that late maturing food crops, especially corn and potatoes and fall pastures, have been benefited by the rains of last week and of this, though maturity has been delayed by accompanying cool weather. Perhaps three-fifths of the corn crop is out of danger from frost, but the plant is green and sappy as the result of recent moisture. A slight improvement in the estimate of yield of corn is indicated for the government report. Late vegetable crops have been helped in the east by moisture. Very high prices are reported for potatoes in states having surplus production to dispose of.

Spring-wheat threshings have been delayed in the northwest by rainy weather. Light frosts are reported in that section, and one-quarter of the Saskatchewan wheat crop estimated to have been exposed to late killing frosts in that province of Canada. Despite a poor season, Canadian grain crops are reported to have broken all records.

Late rains helped cotton in parts of Texas, but too much moisture is reported in the lower Mississippi valley, and insect damage is reported in the eastern gulf states. It is probable that the actual condition of the cotton crop has not been helped much since the goverment report was gathered.

Proposed amendments to the Constitution submitted to the citizens of this Commonwealth for their approval or rejection, by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and published by order of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, in pursuance of Article XVIII of the Constitution.

Number One.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, so as to consolidate the courts of common pleas of Allegheny County.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

That section six of article five be amended, by striking out the said section, and inserting in place thereof the following:

Section 6. In the county of Philadelphia all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the district courts and courts of common pleas, subject to such changes as may be made by this Constitution or by law, shall be in Philadelphia vested in five distinct and separate courts of equal and co-ordinate jurisdiction, composed of three judges each. The said courts in Philadelphia shall be designated respectively as the court of common pleas number one, number two, number three, number four, and number five, but the number of said courts may be by law increased, from time to time, and shall be in like manner designated by successive numbers. The number of judges in any of said courts, or in any county where the establishment of an additional court may be authorized by law, may be increased, from time to time, and whenever such increase shall amount in the whole to three, such three judges shall compose a distinct and separate court as aforesaid, which shall be numbered as aforesaid. In Philadelphia all suits shall be instituted in the said courts of common pleas without designating the number of the said court, and the several courts shall distribute and apportion the business among them in such manner as shall be provided by rules of court, and each court, to which any suit shall be thus assigned, shall have exclusive jurisdiction thereof, subject to change of venue, as shall be provided by law.

In the county of Allegheny all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the several numbered courts of common pleas shall be vested in one court of common pleas, composed of all the judges in commission in said courts. Such jurisdiction and powers shall extend to all proceedings at law and in equity which shall have been instituted in the several numbered courts, and shall be subject to such changes as may be made by law, and subject to change of venue as provided by law. The president judge of said court shall be selected as provided by law. The number of judges in said court may be by law increased from time to time. This amendment shall take effect on the first day of January succeeding its adoption.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to section eight, article nine, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:

Amendment to Article Nine, Section Eight.

"Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation," so as to read as follows:—

Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation, except that any debt or debts hereinafter incurred by the city and county of Philadelphia for the construction and development of subways for transit purposes, or for the construction of wharves and docks, or the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of a system of wharves and docks, as public improvements, owned or to be owned by said city and county of Philadelphia, and which shall yield to the city and county of Philadelphia current net revenue in excess of the interest on said debt or debts and of the annual installments necessary for the cancellation of said debt or debts, may be excluded in ascertaining the power of the city and county of Philadelphia to become otherwise indebted: Provided, That a sinking fund for their cancellation shall be established and maintained.

BANG!

After nursing its misery in silence for several weeks, the "Democratic Watchman" again smashes into those Democrats who have been carrying the Keystone party umbrella. The "Centre Democrat," which has been and is the head, body and right leg of the Keystone party in Centre County, is given a left-handed dig. Francis Speer, Miles Walker and one or two others of the Democratic candidates, who are former Keystoners but now real Democrats, are spanked most unceremoniously. The "Democratic Watchman" for several weeks past has been blowing hot at Harrisburg and cold in Centre County so that it is a genuine pleasure to see it once more blowing one way at both ends. This is how the "Democratic Watchman" last week expressed its true feeling in regard to the Keystone Democrats:

It is noticeable that the leaders of the Keystone party are more concerned about getting themselves into office than securing good government for the people. It may also be noticed that most of the Keystone aspirants for office are men who have failed, at one time or another, to get office in one or the other of the old parties.

The question naturally arises: Will the "Democratic Watchman," if it is honest in its convictions in regard to the Keystone Democrats, support Mr. Speer, Mr. Walker and other Keystone Democrats in the event of their nomination this year on the Democratic ticket?

WORTH GOING AFTER.

Ordinarily the suggestion of a community urging that a prison be located in its immediate vicinity is one more likely to encounter antagonism than popular favor. One naturally thinks of a prison as an eye-sore and a splendid thing to have located somewhere else—anywhere but in or nearby one's home town.

Happily this is not the case in regard to the suggestion that the proposed new State penitentiary and farm prison be located nearby Bellefonte. Sentiment is entirely in favor of the project. It is not overstating the case when we say that for Bellefonte, in a business way, at least, the opportunity is one which seldom comes to a town of this size. It is our hope, and we believe the hope of every other business man in Bellefonte, that the new prison, which will undoubtedly be the finest and most elaborate in the world, will be located here.

To begin with, the prison would not be located within or immediately nearby the town. It is proposed erecting large and handsome buildings. It is planned placing these buildings in the heart of a tract of several thousand acres of farm land. The general idea embraces the operation of a model farm. Instead of an eye-sore the general plan of the prison and grounds would be one pleasing to the eye and a credit to the surrounding country. The underlying principle, vigorously advocated by Warden Francies, is to afford physical and mental exercise for a large number of prisoners. His theory is one involving instruction in self-maintenance while serving out their sentences as well as preserving their bodies and minds so that they may become useful citizens on regaining their liberty. The helping of others is one of the noblest works of man. To make it possible for the lowly, those to whom it seems that the doors of opportunity have been closed, to help themselves and thus prepare for a new start in life is a beautiful sentiment. For what he is endeavoring to accomplish, the name of John Francies will ever live in the hearts of those who are to become the beneficiaries of the plan.

For what it will mean to our town in a business way, we need this prison. Its location here means a new and a greater Bellefonte, the doubling of our population inside of ten years and bringing into active circulation in the community hundreds of thousands of dollars annually.

The Contest Is On.

They're off! Saturday, last, marked the closing of entries for the primaries to be held on September 30, and for the next two weeks or more the contest will be fought fearlessly and vigorously by many aspirants for county, borough and township offices.

On the Republican side the contest for honors is one where the field is free and where every candidate will receive a square deal. There has been no favoritism among rival candidates, no attempt upon the part of Republicans to fix up a "slate." The slate-making has, and happily so, been confined exclusively to the Democratic bosses. Every Republican candidate will enter the primaries a little more than two weeks hence with the satisfaction of knowing that he is on the same footing with other Republican aspirants and that it will be the strongest men who will win.

While the Republicans over the county have received all of their party candidates with open minds, affording to each a full and free opportunity to press his claims for support, the best of feeling has prevailed and the party has been solidified in a manner that speaks for Republican victory in November. In striking contrast to this gratifying condition of affairs in the Republican ranks is the badly disrupted Democratic organization. From top to bottom the Democratic machine is out of kelter. Dating back many months a little handful of Democratic bosses have been scheming to fix up a slate of candidates to be nominated regardless of the wishes of the Democratic voters. They have decreed that the men they have slated must be named and all others must be sacrificed. The so-called harmony deal, patched up so hurriedly between the faction which County Chairman Kimport obeyed at Harrisburg, and the old-line Democrats whom he deserted, has yet a few weeks to run. After November, and in the event of a very improbable Democratic victory, the policy of the Kimport faction will be to read out of the party every Democrat not in smypathy with his course at Harrisburg. The "Centre Democrat" is to be made the official Democratic organ in Centre County.

Republicans in every part of Centre County may well look upon this condition of affairs with entire satisfaction. At the primaries they will have the opportunity to select their candidates from among a large number of men, each of whom is worthy of support and amply qualified to fill the office to which he aspires. For Sheriff three Republican candidates are in the field—Jacob S. Knisely, of Bellefonte; George H. Yarnell, of Zion, and D. O. Downing, of Port Matilda. All have conducted a thorough, dignified and commendable canvass. The nomination of any one of the three would place upon the Republican ticket a candidate of more than average strength. For County Treasurer there are four Republican candidates—Robert D. Musser, of Spring Mills; John S. Dale, Dale Summit; Josiah Pritchard, of Philipsburg, and R. T. Comley, of Unionville. All four men stand high in the estimation and confidence of their home people. All are men of honesty and integrity and each is qualified to administer the duties of the office in a manner that would reflect credit upon the party.

There are likewise four Republicans in the field for nomination for County Commissioners. Two are to be nominated. County Commissioners Woodring and Zimmerman are asking for renomination. It has been customary to accord County Commissioners the courtesy of a second term, and Messrs. Woodring and Zimmerman are asking for what the party has accorded others holding this office in the past. Both are men against whom never so much as a whisper of suspicion of dishonesty has been raised. Both have endeavored to serve the people to the best of their ability and with their conscience as their sole guide in the performance of their official duties. They have placed their candidacy in the hands of the Republicans of the county and it is their belief that the time-honored custom of rewarding faithful officials with a second term will be heartily and cordially continued. Also seeking Republican nomination are Isaac Miller and Christ Decker, both of Bellefonte. Mr. Miller is a carpenter, a man of sterling honesty and would make an ideal official no matter to what office he might be chosen. He has entered the field on the broad principle that the uniform primaries afford all an equal chance. He is entirely justified in holding to this view and his canvass of the county has been one of which he may be proud. Mr. Decker is a retired farmer. For a number of years he has been making his home in Bellefonte. He announced his candidacy after some months of deliberation, believing that it would be the part of wisdom to give to Republicans generally the opportunity to select from among a number of aspirants for the office. He is clean, honest and has many friends who would like to see him nominated.

For Register there are three Republican candidates—E. J. Williams, of Unionville, and Frank Sassaman and G. W. Hall, of Bellefonte. Mr. Williams has served as clerk to the County Commissioners and regards himself as well fitted to discharge the duties of the office of Register. Mr. Sassaman and Mr. Hall, as is also Mr. Williams, are young men. All three are ambitious and have entered the race in a spirit of wholesome and friendly rivalry, each desirous of seeing the strongest man declared the winner. The Republican candidates for Prothonotary are H. C. Rothrock, of Boalsburg, and Harry H. Diehl, of Boggs township. Mr Rothrock is a man of considerable ability. He has been an instructor in the schools and possesses the confidence and trust of the parents of children placed in his care in the past. He is cultured and refined and throughout his lifetime has made honesty of purpose and achievement his standard. If nominated and elected he would administer the duties of the office of Prothonotary in a manner that would be eminently satisfactory. Mr. Diehl, his rival for the honor, is a young business man. He at one time resided in Bellefonte but for some years has been engaged in business in Milesburg. He is well and favorably known, especially among the younger element. His canvass for support has been conducted with admirable tact and in a manner calculated to win new friends. He has been presenting the straight-forward plea that he wants the office, that he believes he is qualified to fill it and if he is not to have it the other fellow must prove himself the better man. Everybody who knows Harry Diehl knows that if nominated and elected he will prove to be an efficient official. They likewise know that if defeated he will take off his coat and go to work with a will for the nominee. This is the spirit we like to see among young Republicans.

For Recorder the present incumbent, William H. Brown, has no opposition at the primaries. He has been an efficient, courteous and trustworthy public official and asks that the party, following custom, accord him a second term. For District Attorney James C. Furst, of Bellefonte, has no opposition among Republicans. He has not made a very thorough canvass as yet but expects to visit every part of the county after the primaries.

Two exceptionally good men will be nominated by the Republicans for County Auditors. They are William H. Goss, of Pine Grove Mills, and Clement H. Gramley, of Rebersburg. They have no opposition at the primaries. Both are men of the type one would naturally select to audit one's accounts, whether they be of a private or public character. We say without the slightest hesitation that if elected in November Messrs. Goss and Gramley will render an account of themselves that will reflect credit upon every man giving them his support.

Dr. S. M. Huff, of Milesburg, asks a renomination for Coroner by the Republicans. He has been a capable, efficient official and if nominated will no doubt be re-elected. For County Surveyor the Republican nomination will go to David W. Pletcher, of Howard, a man deserving of the honor and one who is in every way fitted to give the very best of service.

The foregoing comprise the Republicans who aspire to nomination for county offices. This newspaper has but one suggestion to offer. We are given absolute power to determine who shall be our party nominees. Our votes at the primaries will decide who shall make the final race for Republican victory in November. All of the aspirants of our party cannot be nominated. Some must of necessity meet with disappointment. Let each of us sink personal preference and strive for the nomination of the strongest ticket possible. Once the nominations are made let all Republicans work enthusiastically and unitedly for the election of the whole Republican ticket. Centre County is Republican. It's up to Republicans to keep it Republican.

It should be explained that at the November election five school directors are to be elected, as follows: One for the six-years term; two for the four-years terms, and two for the two-years terms. Two auditors are to be elected, one for four years and one for two years. Two overseers of the poor are to be elected.

Urges Election of Women.

Man's world is the business world, the strife and grind on money making is his, but it is woman who is the maker of home life, hers is the sphere to train the little children for the duties that lie before them, to bring them up in the fear of God and instil into them obedience to His will, love of the truth and all the virtues that go to adorn the true man or woman, so that they may, in after years, be useful and honored members of society and reflect credit on their early training.

Who is there among us who does not revere the hallowed name of mother? Is there one of mature years who amid the turmoil and din of daily life does not sometimes stop to think of the tender care bestowed upon him and the loving words that fell from the lips of her he called "mother," and does he not feel proud that to her, in a great measure, he owes his advancement in life?

By all means let us have women on the school board. They understand the children, their needs and requirements they are fully cognizant of, much more so than are men. And then, too, they, are as capable of rightly managing the finances as men would be; they know of economy and can practice more of it in the spending of the monies entrusted to them.

FANNY A. SHUGERT.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

"The Girl and the Tramp."

Fun of the real uproarious kind predominates in Carlos Inskeep's laughing comedy success "The Girl and the Tramp," which comes to Garman's Opera House, Tuesday, Sept. 19, but there are other things besides. The play tells an absorbing heart story of a supposed wrong to a loving husband, which happily comes out all right in the end. Then, too, there are a grist of startlingly dramatic situations, the explosion of a real automobile etc. Briefly it is a performance that should certainly be seen by everyone who enjoys a clean comedy drama.

"The Missouri Girl."

The character of "Zeke Dobson," the country boy in "The Missouri Girl," is one of unique conception. Among the many impersonations of the rural types offered to the theatre-going public, there are but few limited cases where the author has even attempted to portray this interesting character as he is seen in real life. At Garman's Opera House, tonight, Sept 14.

Mrs. Braumbaugh will remain here for several days. Mrs. Charles McMurtrie, of the Hotel Howard, took supper on Sunday evening at the Pheasant home.

N. H. Yearick and wife were to Hublersburg to attend Rev. H. I. Crow's farewell sermon. The Reverend takes up a new field at South Bethlehem. If he serves his new congregation as well and pleasantly as he has in this field we hope they will be able to retain his services longer than we were able to. Our loss will certainly be their gain.

Quite a few of our young people are again enrolled at the Hublersburg High School. This is certainly very commendable and should have the full endorsement of the entire community. This township has been falling short in furnishing its quota of professional men, such as doctors, lawyers, ministers, etc., for a good many years. We have turned out a few first-class commercial men, such as Mr. Martin, who is with the Westinghouse Electric Company, at Pittsburg, and Mr. Bennison, who is with the Arbuckles Bros. Company. These two men we can point to with pride and say that they are "our boys." We need more genuine educational enthusiasm, so let us all give all possible encouragement to our pupils who are in our neighboring High School. May the day come when we will have one of our own.

HOW TO GROW LAVENDER.

The Start Is Difficult, but After That It Flowers In Profusion.

Lavender is hardy when it is once firmly established, but it is not the easiest perennial to start in this country. At first I bought nursery stock, but out of two dozen plants, which I got from four different sources during two years, only one lived, and that was always a semi-invalid, so I resorted to the slower method of sowing seed.

In March a shallow box was filled with potting mold, thoroughly soaked with water, then covered with about one-fourth of an inch of soil, patted down firmly, the box covered with glass and placed in a west window. As soon as seedlings appeared the glass was removed, but they were shaded from the direct sun and lightly sprinkled every morning.

When two inches high they were transplanted to a deeper box and set two inches apart. About two months later they were transplanted to a partly shaded seed bed in the garden, and the last two leaves were nipped off each plant to insure a bushy growth. Cultivation was constant all through the summer until August, when they were again transplanted, this time into a bed which was to be their permanent home—a border partly shaded by shrubs. It happened to be a very dry summer, so they were sprinkled every evening.

When cool weather set in, leaves were scattered between the plants, and the quantity increased as the weather became more severe. In the spring the mulch was removed and a little bonemeal raked into the ground around the plants. The ground must be covered every winter, and it is well to have a dressing of well rotted cow manure dug into the bed during the early fall.

In June or July we always have huge quantities of flowers. We have never marketed any of them, but they have formed the basis of many Christmas and birthday presents. Ten pounds of lavender flowers and one pound each of musk, thyme, rosemary and mint leaves, all dried and mixed with one ounce of ground cloves, is an old formula for moth bags which preserves our furs and woolens just as effectually as camphor balls or tar mixtures.—Woman's Home Companion.

HOW TO MAKE LIMEWATER.

Easy to Prepare and Is Valuable About the Household.

One of the most useful agents of household economy, if rightly understood, is limewater. Its mode of preparation is as follows: Put a piece of fresh unslaked lime about the size of a half peck measure into a large stone jar and pour over it slowly and carefully (so as not to slacken too rapidly) four gallons of hot water and stir again two or three times in twenty-four hours. Then bottle carefully all that can be poured off in a clear state.

Limewater is often sold by druggists as a remedy for children's summer complaint, a teaspoon in a cup of milk being a dose. When diarrhea is caused by acidity of the stomach it is an excellent remedy. When put into milk it gives no unpleasant taste, but rather improves the flavor.

When put into milk that might curdle when heated it will prevent it so doing, and the milk can then be used for puddings and pies. A little stirred into cream or milk after a hot day or night will prevent its turning when used for tea or coffee.

It is unequaled in cleansing bottles for babies, as it sweetens and purifies without leaving an unpleasant odor.

How to Clean Gilt Frames.

Where is the home that has not got its quota of gilt frames, be they tiny and few or large and many? And the problem of keeping them bright—how many know it? This is information that ought to be pasted in your scrap book on one of the pages "C" for cleaning.

For cleaning gilt frames there is nothing better than a wad of fresh bread sprinkled with a few drops of benzine and ammonia (benzine away from fire), and you will find that the moisture in the bread is enough to absorb the stronger qualities of the ammonia and what remains of it on the surface is sufficient to supply the frames with a pretty appearance of newness. Wash off the frame afterward with water in which a little borax has been added.

How to Use the Broom.

Few people handle a broom properly, although accustomed to its use every day of their lives. Always draw your broom by leaning it forward, because this allows the dirt to be moved along more gently and will not raise much dust. Most sweepers thrust the broom ahead of them in a sort of digging way, with the handle toward the sweeper. This breaks the broom, wears out the carpet, flirts up dust and makes the sweeping much more laborious.

How to Sharpen Scissors.

Many housewives will be glad to know a simple method for sharpening scissors so that they can be comfortably used while waiting for the emory wheel of the professional sharpener. Saw the blades on the neck of a glass bottle as if you were trying to cut the neck of the bottle in two. This will put an edge on the dullest of blades.

How to Save Ice Bills.

Take a box three or four feet square, fill four or five inches deep with clean coarse salt, keep salt well dampened and put milk and butter in this homemade refrigerator, as it will keep food nicely and prove a good substitute for an icebox.

THE STRANGE PEER.

His Nonchalant Debut In the British House of Lords.

On one occasion a gentlemanly appearing individual walked boldly up the steps of St. Stephen's, London, passed the various officials, turned into the house of lords passage and in a self possessed manner entered the robing room.

"Lord Normanby's robes."

The attendant looked surprised.

"But, my lord"— he began

"I know it's absurd," said the stranger, "but my tailor cannot finish my robes in time, and I must attend this sitting. Lord Normanby was so kind as to offer— You understand?"

"Oh, certainly, my lord," responded the rober.

The crimson and ermine was produced and donned, and the pseudo peer strolled into the house, where a few peers were waiting, administered a series of affable nods right and left and finally took his place on the woolsack.

"I WILL OVERLOOK YOUR SLIP."

For full thirty seconds he sat there, while those present tried to collect their faculties. Then he slowly arose and, remarking to the clerk, "How stupid of me—I now remember I have an appointment elsewhere," retired from the chamber. In the robing room he remarked, "Thank Lord Normanby and tell his lordship I have just recalled a pressing appointment with the king."

"Yes, my lord. What name?"

"What name?" echoed the other, in assumed astonishment. "What name? Really, my good fellow, you must be careful—very careful. It does not do to forget yourself in this assembly. But I will overlook your slip this time. Good morning."

That evening it was known at the Beefsteak club that Banister, the actor, had won a bet of $250.

The Ruling Passion.

A little while ago two senators who are popularly supposed to represent interests not in accord with Dr. Wylie's pure food and drug ideals met in a corridor.

"I tell you it's no use!" began the first with a dejected shake of the head. "Wylie will fight till the day of his death!"

"Yes," assented the second, "and when he lies cold and the undertaker comes in with the bottles Wylie will revive with a shudder and he'll hop off the slab and say, 'My man, don't ever tell me there isn't formaldehyde in that stuff!'"—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Speech That Wasn't Delivered.

After he had resigned as pension commissioner and returned to Kansas Gene Ware was fond of relating an experience that befell him while he was stationed at the national capital. He was invited to deliver a Fourth of July oration at Gettysburg and accepted. He mentioned the matter to President Roosevelt one day at the White House.

"By George, that's bully!" said Teddy. "I will just go down and listen to your address." Then Teddy paused for a moment and said, "Yes, and I'll make Root go too." Then he paused again and said, "I'll just take the whole cabinet."

Of course that made Ware feel good. To think that the president of the United States and the members of his cabinet would go to hear him make an address tended to puff him up just a little.

Well, Teddy and several members of the cabinet went all right. Courtesy demanded that the president be called on first "for a few remarks." So Teddy was called on. He spoke for two straight hours, and Ware never did get to deliver his speech.—Kansas City Journal.

Showed Her the Door.

Thomas had been a carpenter, but owing to dullness in trade he was engaged as footman at the "big house" in the village.

On the day of his engagement his mistress, having a lady visitor in the drawing room, rang the bell for the footman. "You will show this lady to the front door, Thomas," she said.

"Yes, mum," replied Thomas, and, bowing to the lady, he requested her to follow him. On coming to the door Thomas opened it, and the lady was about to pass out when Thomas, tapping her on the shoulder, remarked, "This is the door, mum; guid pitch pine it is, the frame two an' a half inches thick, with raised moldings; wad cost about twa pound ten, mum."—London Ideas.

HOW TO CLEAN LEATHER.

Furniture Upholstered With It Requires Frequent Attention.

The cleaning of leather upholstered furniture is a question that concerns almost every housewife, for those who do not possess one or more pieces of the padded leather kind have at least the leather seated diners that require refurbishing three or four times a year.

In preparing to clean such a piece it is best to have the necessary materials at hand, so that the work can be finished at once and without risk of injuring the furniture, as there would be a liability if the different operations of the work were not done in rapid sequence.

Procure three large size cheesecloths, a basinful of tepid or nearly warm water, to which has been added a little vinegar, say a tablespoonful, and a mixture of the whites of two eggs and a half pint of turpentine. The mixture is best made by first beating the eggs to a froth and placing it in a bottle before the turpentine, and then before each application it is well shaken in the bottle.

Large pieces of leather furniture are gone over in sections, first with the cheesecloth which has been dipped in the warm water to which has been added the vinegar, and then after being carefully wiped with a dry cheesecloth it is polished with a cheesecloth or chamois slightly saturated with the egg white and turpentine mixture. After this the article is carefully wiped dry with other cloths.

Seats of the dining chairs can be done one at a time with ease.

Any leather covered article, such as seat pads and even gocarts, not leaving out the dull calf or gun metal shoe, can be renovated after a fashion by the same process, and shiny leather thus treated will admit of a polish more readily than before it is applied.

THE CARE OF CANARIES.

How to Keep Birds So They Will Be Healthy and Sing.

In selecting a canary one of the cross breeds, pure canary with a strain of goldfinch or bullfinch, is the best to choose, as they are much hardier than the pure canary and have splendid voices. The best food for canaries is canary and rape seed, one part of rape to three of canary. From April to September they should have a little fresh green food every day, either chickweed, watercress or lettuce, says Our Dumb Animals. A lump of sugar should always be kept between the cage wires within easy reach.

Always give a canary a bath the first thing in the morning. After cleaning the bottom of the cage should be sprinkled with gravel and sand (not sand from the seashore, as the salt will kill the birds).

Never hang the cage in a draft or a stiff breeze, as canaries are very susceptible to cold. Neither should it remain uncovered in a lighted room at night, as the bird's song is liable to become impaired because of its nervous temperament.

How to Make Starch.

When making starch have a kettle of boiling water. In a clean enameled saucepan stir until smooth half a cupful of starch and one cupful of cold water. Then gradually add boiling water, stirring all the time. Boil the starch for ten minutes, stirring constantly.

Now add a little white wax or a piece of sperm candle. If wax or candle is not available use a teaspoonful of butter or lard. Cover the saucepan and let the starch simmer twenty minutes longer. Add a few drops of bluing.

The amount of boiling water added to the starch and cold water will depend upon how stiff the articles are to be made. For shirt bosoms, cuffs and collars add one quart of boiling water. For dresses, underskirts, etc., use two quarts of boiling water.

How to Preserve Pineapple.

When preserving pineapple let the fruit stand overnight in the sugar it is to be put up with. The sugar draws out the juices of the fruit, and it is ready to cook the next morning, usually without the addition of other moistening. It will only require three minutes' cooking after it has reached the boiling point. Use two-thirds or three-quarters of a pound of sugar to every pound of fruit, according to the acidity of the "pines." Of course the sweet sugar loaf pineapple is the best for preserving.

How to Preserve Carpets.

An excellent way to keep carpets in good condition is to go over them once a week with a broom dipped in hot water to which a little turpentine has been added. This treatment not only prevents moths, but freshens up the color of the faded carpet marvelously. Another advantage is that the dust is prevented from flying all over the house. One who tries it will be astonished to see how much dirt there is in a pail of water at the end of the operation.

How to Fold a Man's Coat.

Lay the coat out perfectly flat with the inside down. The sleeves should be spread out smoothly and then folded back to the elbow until each end of the sleeve is even with the collar. Fold the revers back and double the coat over, folding it directly in the center seam, and then smooth it out carefully and lay flat in the drawer.

How to Bathe the Baby.

Throw into the water a handful of corks and in his effort to catch the "fish" the child will forget that he is being washed and the bath will be over without any trouble.

To the Autumn Bride.

"Something old and something new,
Something borrowed and something blue."

So runs an old-fashioned rhyme religiously observed on grandmother's wedding day, when not for worlds would she have omitted one of the "somethings" from her bridal accessories, such an oversight would have been flying straight in the face of fortune, and in bygone times brides did not tempt fate to the extent they do nowadays.

To keep the commands of the rhyme, and thus insure a peaceful sail on the sea of matrimony, grandmother wore the veil brought over by her mother, when, as a bride she came with some gay cavalier or some sturdy settler to seek fortune in a new land. This carried out the obligation of something old in a charming way.

For the something borrowed she asked a girl friend who was happily married to lend her the dainty ivory prayer book she had carried on her bridal day—a favor gladly granted.

The "something blue" was the perkiest of elastic in a delicate shade of blue with rosettes of pale blue ribbon and forget-me-nots and jeweled, a gift from her chum. Of course, there were plenty of things to carry out the "something new," the snowy wedding gown, for example.

The sentiment is such a pretty one that brides of today still find delight in its observance. Any number of ways can be found to keep the couplet. A real lace "kerchief," an old ivory fan, a bit of jewelry, mother's wedding ring—any of these may be a treasured family possessions handed down from another wedding day. Every bride knows of some dainty and appropriate accessory she can borrow from a girl friend, and a blue bow can be tacked onto her lingerie with little trouble. Anyway, the idea is fanciful enough to awaken the spirit of romance, a spirit to be commended in the happy bride of all times.

A Great Advantage to Working Men

J. A. Maple, 125, 7th St., Steubenville, O., says: For years I suffered from weak kidneys and a severe bladder trouble. I learned of Foley Kidney Pills and their wonderful cures so I began taking them and sure enough I had as good results as any I heard about. My backache left me and to one of my business, expressman, that alone is a great advantage. My kidneys acted free and normal, and that saved me a lot of misery. It is now a pleasure to work where it used to be a misery. Foley Kidney Pills have cured me and have my highest praise." Sold by C. M. Parrish.

Wheat Smut.

Smut in wheat is probably the cause of more damange next to that of the Hessian Fly to this staple crop of the State. Like the damage of the Hessian Fly its ravages can be avoided by taking advantage of methods well-known to science. This is done by destroying the spores of smut on seed wheat according to the following procedure as outlined by H. A. Surface, Economic Zoologist of the State Department of Agriculture, in his reply to a correspondent:

"Replying to your letter asking for a formula for treating seed wheat for Smut, I beg to say that this is not a difficult operation, and will be effective if undertaken. It is not expensive, and it requires no great skill or knowledge to do it properly. It is really impossible to fail in this regard if directions are followed in this brief article.

"Smut, as you know, makes the black heads of wheat and oats, and is often responsible for the loss of a very large percentage of the crop, which sometimes amounts to fully one-half of the entire crop. Since this is so easily and cheaply prevented, there is no excuse for a farmer losing his wheat or oats from this trouble.

"The treatment consists in soaking the seed with a solution of the liquid known as formalin or formaldehyde. It can be purchased from druggists by the pound in liquid form. In commercial form it consists of forty per cent, of formaldehyde in an aqueous or watery solution. It is a strong germicide and preservative. One pint of this solution in thirty gallons of water is enought to destroy the Smut germs, and also the Scab germs of potatoes and other kinds of germs, when it comes in contact with them.

"There are two methods of treatment: One consists in putting the grain into sacks, and setting this into a barrel containing the thirty gallons of water, with the pint of formalin in solution in it. It should be lifted up and down occasionally, to be sure that the liquid will penetrate and come in contact with all the grain. A few minutes soaking is long enough at a time. The grain should then be emptied on the barn floor on a clean spot, and spread thin, and allowed to dry, being shoveled over occasionally.

"It can be treated at any time before sowing, if it is kept clean after treatment, but the best plan is to treat it just before the time for sowing, and if it does not get dry rapidly enough the drying can be hastened by dusting a little slaked lime over it. The best plan, however, is to dry it by opening the barn doors, and letting the wind blow through, and using a shovel to stir it occasionally.

"Another method of the treatment is to spread the grain on the floor, and with a sprinking can pour over it water containing a solution of formalin, prepared by the formula mentioned above. By shoveling the grain at the time of pouring on the liquid, it is possible to be sure that all is soaked. Let it stand a short time, then dry it, and use it when ready. Your grain is not poisoned by this treatment, but the germs are all killed. After it is dry, it would not injure poultry or live stock to eat it.

"It must be remembered that the Smut germs get into the field in three ways: (1) They are liable to reach there from Smut of the previous crop. (2) They are taken out by the straw which is smutty, because it has been used for bedding, or otherwise mixed with the manure, but not well decomposed. (3) They are taken to the field on the grains themselves, if not treated. Knowing this, one can see that to be sure to be rid of the Smut, he should plant clean wheat on ground where Smut did not occur the year before, and where no straw was spread from a smutty crop."

Were Handed Down.

Every one knew Jonathan Skinflint as a millionaire, with the exception, so it appeared, of skinflint himself. He invariably wore the shabbiest of clothes and is reported to have dined one day on a couple of peas and grape skin.

One day an old friend endeavored to persuade the miser to dress better. "I am surprised," he said, "that you should let yourself become so shabby."

"But I am not shabby," expostulated Skinflint.

"Oh, yes, you are," replied the friend, "Remember your father. He was always neatly, even elegantly, dressed. His clothes were very handsome.

Skinflint gave utterance to a hearty laugh. "Why," he shouted triumphantly, "these clothese I've got on were father's.

Fads for Women.

Preserve the freshness of the bed during the day by having a lounge for naps. Nothing could be better suited to this purpose than one of the woven wire couches, inexpensive and easily made up. A soft mattress, a cotton blanket folded and laid across the mattress a single sheet a cover of linen or cotton material preserving the color scheme of the room and a collection of comfortable pillows compete this daytime haven of rest. Have it placed so that it will not face the light and have a small stand holding a water tray and pitcher and a few good books or magazines handy. In this way the mind can be diverted and thirst satisfied without disturbing the repose of the entire body.

In decorating a bedroom, whether it is to be in modern or antique style, the woodwork should be plain, a white or dull cream finish being the best selection. Muslin curtains, too, will be found a continual source of satisfaction, as they are both inexpensive and can be laundered at home that they present a constant freshness. Either a brass or an enameled rod to match the woodwork can be used, and overcurtain of cretonne, chintz, silk or any suitable fabric adds greatly to the feminine note of the room.

Do not use the den as a receiving room for furniture that has proven undesirable in other portions of the house, and expect it to look otherwise than conglomerated. Retain the most suitable pieces of furniture at hand as a nucleus and set about to acquire gradually odd and quaint pieces such as tend to make the den a place of comfort and mystery. The background of the den, including side walls, rugs and hangings, should be seen under daylight and artificial light, as many a soft rich color of the day turns black and lifeless under the night lamp.

The secret of the whole effect is to choose quality of furnishings rather than quantity and to remember that a few real antiques are more to be desired that many near curios and much brass.

We are indebted to John Beigle, one of our valued readers near Bald Eagle, for a letter received a day or two ago in which he enclosed a one dollar bill advancing his subscription to "The Republican" another year. Here's our thanks and compliments of the season.

We desire to express our appreciation of a letter received several days ago from David Spittler, an esteemed reader of "The Republican" at Sandy Ridge. Mr. Spittler's letter had a welcome enclosure which will give a healthy boost to the date on the label on his copy of the paper.

James W. Derr, of Bellefonte, this week closed out his broom manufacturing business and to day departed for Austin, Texas, where he will become an instructor in physical culture in a State school. He is a young man of industry and honesty and we trust he will meet with deserved success in his new venture.

A new subscriber enrolled several days ago in G. F. Stevenson, of Waddle. Mr. Stevenson is the Republican chairman in his district and quite naturally wanted to become enrolled as a regular reader of a good Republican newspaper. Which, of course, explains why he had himself entered as a subscriber to "The Republican."

State Senator Joseph Alexander, of Madera, was among the throng of visitors to the grangers picnic on Tuesday. He spent several hours in town on Wednesday morning and while here paid his respects at "The Republican" office. Senator Alexander was desirous of spending the entire week at Grange Park, but he had to be content with one day there, hurrying away to attend the Veteran Legion encampment which is being held this week in Pittsburg.

On Sunday, last, there was quite an exodus of Bellefonte boys to one place or another. Max Wallace, James Caldwell and Frank Crissman departed for Akron, Ohio, where they have secured positions with the Goodrich Rubber Company. Mr. Fink is engaged in the hardware business in Clearfield and while that place isn't so very far distant, this was his first visit to Bellefonte in the last 32 years. One who is so genial should visit us more frequently.

More Giant Tomatoes.

Last week "The Republican" told of six giant tomatoes that weighed 9 pounds and which Isaac Dawson was proudly exhibiting to his Bellefonte friends. Enormous as the tomatoes were, and justly proud as Isaac was in showing them to his friends, it would appear that H. S. Gunsallus, of Fleming, recently produced six giant tomatoes that take the record from Isaac by a nose, or by half a pound, strictly speaking. Mr. Gunsallus grew six tomatoes that weigh-9½ pounds and what is even more remarkable, he has several others in his gardens which threaten to break this high record. One of the tomatoes weighed 3 pounds, and another weighed 2½ pounds. They are of an Italian species, mixed with what Mr. Gunsallus calls the flesh variety. The seeds of the Italian tomato, he explained, were secured from his brother several years ago. The Italian tomato, Mr. Gunsallus added, has very few seeds The two tomatoes he received from his brother, he explained, contained but about a half teaspoonful of seed.

Wedding at Mill Hall.

The wedding of Miss Caroline Bailey Mann and Frederick Antis Curtin, of Needles, California, was solemnized on Thursday evening of last week at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mann, at Mill Hall. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. A. D. Bateman, of Mill Hall, and upward of 150 guests were in attendance. The bride was dressed in heavy white satin, trimmed with pearls and old lace, and carried a boquet of lillies of the valley. The maid of honor was her sister, Miss Christine Mann. The bridesmaids were Misses Helen and Isabella Mann, sisters of the bride; Miss Edith Mann, of Lewistown, a cousin, and Miss Elizabeth Shope, of Williamsport. The best man was Harry Curtin, a brother of the groom, and the ushers were H. Laird Curtin and Lattimer Curtin, of Curtin; Thomas Mackey, of Philadelphia, and Howard Candor, of Lock Haven. Mr. and Mrs. Curtin will reside at Needles, California.

Dr. Feidt to Leave.

It will be learned with sincere regret by his numerous friends in Bellefonte that Dr. W. W. Feidt has concluded to remove from this place to Minneapolis, Minn. With his family he will locate in that city in the near future. Dr. Feidt will probably go there in the next few days. Mrs. Feidt and the children will remain here until they dispose of their property on High Street. During the last few months Dr. Feidt has been at the University of Pennsylvania hospital, in Philadelphia, securing practical experience in surgery. His success in that line has been so marked as to win the praise of Drs. Edward Martin and J. B. Carnet, surgeons at the University hospital and among the best known physicians in Philadelphia. Dr. Feidt will go to Minneapolis with the best wishes of large number of friends. That he may meet with the success he deserves is the hope of all who know him.

ALL NEW SERMONS

Rev. Dr. Yocum Announces That He Burned all the Old Ones.

Rev. Dr. Ezra H. Yocum wants it known that it is not his intention to hand out "warmed over" sermons during the time of his pastorate in the Bellefonte Methodist Episcopal church. The genial Doctor so informed his congregation during the regular services on Sunday, last. Moreever, he let it be known that the sermons he will deliver while in Bellefonte will be prepared at the church parsonage, on East Linn Street.

Dr. Yocum does not mean by this announcement that some ministers do work in the same sermons, time and again, even though they may do it unconsciously. He doesn't allude to other ministers, not even in the most remote way. Some ministers may, on leaving one town and locating in another, preach the same old sermons, thus saving themselves the physical and mental labor involved in preparing a new series for each week. Dr. Yocum says that the people of Bellefonte may rest assured that he is not going to use the sermons here that he preached during the nine years that he was located in Lewistown. The Lewistown sermons, added Dr. Yocum, his eyes twinkling as he spoke, were carefully dumped into a pile and burned. Furthermore, Dr. Yocum applied the match. The cremation took place when Dr. Yocum learned that he was to be transferred from Lewistown to Bellefone. Had Mrs. Yocum been present just then, Dr. Yocum explained, his face now wreathed in smiles, the conflagration might have been prevented.

Dr. Yocum's announcement to his congregation was as unexpected as it was unique. When it is recalled that he is well on in years and is not endowed with the strength of men of younger years, one may better appreciate the task that he has cut out for himself. To his congregation he said:

"I have a little announcement to make which will no doubt be as pleasing to you as it is to me. While I am located here you will not be asked to listen to sermons prepared in the past and preached at other places. Before leaving Lewistown I carried the barrel out into the yard, dumped the old sermons into a pile and burned them. Had my wife been there it might not have happened, but she was not and the old sermons went up in smoke. All the sermons I deliver while I am your pastor will be manufactured on Linn Street."

Dr. Yocum's announcement was listened to with the closest of attention and following the service was freely discussed. Upon all sides were words of admiration for the stand he had taken.

On Tuesday Isaac Miller, Edward Eckenroth, Charlie Stover, Ben. Gentzel, Irwin Gettig, Chief of Police Dukeman and several others visited Clearfield, expecting to participate in the proposed hearing in the case in which State wardens alleged deer were illegally killed. The several defendants were ready for the hearing, which was first scheduled for 2 o'clock in the afternoon. At that hour it was explained that the prosecution was not ready to proceed owing to the absence of witnesses. The hearing was continued until 5 o'clock, but the prosecution again was not ready. Another hearing was ordered at some date in the future. The several defendants were put to considerable unnecessary expense and inconvenience, being compelled to return home without a hearing and with no assurance that the next trip will prove to be any more satisfactory.

"Joe The Turk."

"Joe the Turk", or rather Staff Captain Garabed, the converted Turkish missionary, is conducting a series of interesting meetings in the quarters of the Salvation Army, in the Centre County bank building. His first meeting was held last night. Another meeting will be held tonight.

Joe has traveled virtually all over the world preaching the doctrine of Christianity since he was converted by the Salvation Army 26 years ago. At his meetings he appears in the full Turkish costume and tonight will exhibit the two-edged sword which he brought with him from Smyrna where he recently visited.

Howard Boy Weds.

A very pretty wedding was that of Miss Catherine McKibben, of Salona, and Charles Bowes, of Howard, which took place at Mill Hall on Thursday morning of last week with Rev. Dr. A. D. Bateman officiating. Following the nuptial ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Bowes departed on a honeymoon trip. They will make their home at Howard. The bride is an accomplished young lady and has many friends. The groom is an industrious and popular young man and is well qualified to become the head of a home.

Hatchery Employees Fired.

Superintendent Griffith and the several employees of the Bellefonte fish hatchery have been notified that their services will not be required after September 30. Notice has been served on employees and superintendents at all other hatcheries in the State. It is entirely probable that some of the superintendents will not be reappointed but that most of the present employees will be retained.

W. C. T. U. Convention.

It is a matter for regretion the part of the editor that the report of the recent convention of the W. C. T. U. of Centre County was received too late for publication this week. It will be our pleasure to publish the same next week.

THINK THIS OVER.

You say you can make more from your surplus than a life insurance policy will make for you.

How much comfort of mind will your "increased earnings" bring you when you are ill and face the question of your family's needs?

Mental worry and illness combined speeds death.

Mental ease contributes to longevity.

A Royal Union policy is the greatest balm in the world for that feeling of uncertainty about your family's future if you are no longer here to provide for them, and for the time when age will impair your activity. No policy is better secured or yields a better return to its holder than the ones issued by the Royal Union.
